Face Recognition Attendance System - FYP | Link

Python,Tkinter,OpenCV,Object-Detection

My university final year project was a face recognition attendance system developed using Python, Tkinter, and the Haarcascade algorithm. The system automated attendance by capturing and recognizing students' faces using a camera. Python served as the main programming language, Tkinter created the graphical user interface, and the Haarcascade algorithm detected faces. The project involved storing student images in a database, capturing live images, matching them with stored ones, and marking attendance accordingly. This project enhanced my skills in machine learning, real-time image processing, and GUI development.
